

YANKS ONLY 110 MILES FROM BERLIN

ALL OF SOUTH
LUZON FREED
BY AMERICANSJAP RESISTANCE
STUBBORN ON OKINAWA

BY RAY CROWIN
Associated Press War Editor

The American steamroller campaign in the Philippines has engulfed the strategic Sulu Archipelago, liberated all of southern Luzon and freed the famous Culion leper colony, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported late Tuesday.

These sensational developments were announced almost simultaneously with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' report that Yank doughboys fighting on the southern Okinawa front were held to a standstill by the Japanese defenders. Marines to the north made gains of 2,000 yards after beating off two small counterattacks.

Japanese resistance on southern Okinawa continued stubborn. The Japanese fruitlessly counterattacked after terrific artillery bombardments. American naval guns and planes supported ground forces.

Jolo Invaded
Doughboys invaded Tsugen Island, 10 miles off Okinawa's east coast.

Admiral Nimitz reported that 5,009 Japanese were killed and 222 captured on Okinawa up to and including April 6.

A communiqué from Japanese imperial headquarters said American Okinawa casualties between April 1 and 7 totaled about 3,600 as compared with approximately 400 Japanese dead and wounded. American forces gained complete control of the southwestern Philippine flank as Yanks invaded Jolo, capital of the Sulu archipelago and one of Japan's most important sea shipping and air bases in the south. Earlier the Yanks had seized the western end of the archipelago, only 30 miles off the coast of Borneo.

Veterans of the American 41st division made the landing. The doughboys quickly took the city, a Moro shrine, and its airfields in an eight-mile inland drive.

On Luzon Island troops of the 11th airborne division sped 20 miles across the gateway to the Bicol peninsula and reached Atimonan, on the east coast. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, reporting this operation, said "all organized enemy resistance in southern Luzon has collapsed and its liberation is at hand."

Lepers Get Care
Hundreds of Filipino lepers in the famous colony on Culion Island, west central Philippines, were liberated by American forces when they occupied Coron Bay, once a Japanese fleet anchorage. The lepers received their first medical and food supplies in three years.

American bombers hit Davao, southeastern Philippines, again, blasted Formosan airdromes, and lashed lines of communications along the French Indo-China coast.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington said Japanese army and navy dead since the start of the Pacific war were over three-quarters of a million. Japanese fatalities, based on surveys of dead actually counted and on estimates, total more than 865,000. Uncounted thousands have died in China.

The greatest Japanese toll—314,000—was in the Philippines.

The Japanese radio made an unconfirmed claim that another rising sun naval force—a special attack or suicide unit—was steaming toward Okinawa in search of the American fleet.

Last Big Battle
To Crush Enemy
Begins In Italy

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

Rome, Apr. 10 (P)—The veteran British Eighth army, opening what probably will be the last major battle in Italy, crossed the Senio river today on a wide front in a campaign to annihilate the German 10th and 14th armies before they can retreat into the mountain fortress of southern Germany.

The Eighth, with a brilliant record reaching back to El Alamein, moved into action last night after a six-month lull behind a murderous artillery barrage and the greatest coordinated aerial assault ever carried out in Italy.

The barrage, which opened at 7:30 o'clock last night, was preceded by an aerial assault by U. S. 12th and 15th airforce and RAF warplanes. All three air forces resumed the assault today with a great force of heavy bombers from the 15th blasting a path through German defenses for the attacking Eighth army.

Shortly before noon 3,400-100-pound high explosive bombs and 180,000 fragmentation bombs had been dropped in front of the British.

Initial objectives were gained against relatively light opposition and the Tommies continued to press forward over the swampy terrain, interlaced with numerous drainage ditches.

There was no immediate indication what proportion of the enemy strength in northern Italy—estimated at 25 German divisions and six Italian-Fascist divisions—has been massed in the path of the Eighth army.

However the cream of the Nazi fighting units—notably the veteran First and Fourth Parachute troop divisions and the 26th and 19th Panzer grenadiers—have been concentrated mostly in front of the Eighth army foothold across the southeastern corner of the Po Valley and against the Fifth army south of Bologna on the central Italian front.

The American Fifth army front was active with the U. S. 473d Infantry regiment, operating with the 92nd division, fighting its way into the southern outskirts of Massa, near the Italian west coast.

The new British offensive on the eastern Italian front was the first big attack against the Nazis since Field Marshal Albert Kesselring left to take command of the German forces on the western front. Col. Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff, who formerly commanded the German 10th army under Kesselring, is believed to have taken up the overall Italian command.

Announcement of big cuts in artillery ammunition production and a decision against completing 12 new tank plants combined tonight to reflect official pleasure at progress of the war.

Army engineers men at Chicago announced the ammunition program change and the war department at Washington said the army has now decided it won't need the dozen tank plants which were not scheduled for peak operation until autumn.

The 1945 schedule now contemplates a 10 per cent reduction in the entire artillery ammunition program authorized last December. That was at a time when the Rumsfeld breakthrough made the situation dark on the western front.

The Chicago announcement said that full consideration would be given to the need of guarding against losses or hardships to industry or labor when the ammunition cutbacks, estimated at nearly $200,000,000, are applied.

And the tank plant statement said it was imperative that existing tank plants will have to continue "to meet production schedules in full."

"Four of the projected tank plants—Chrysler Corporation, Chrysler subcontractors, Ford Motor Company, and General Motors—would have been in Detroit, Mich."

"Other plant expansions affected include: American Steel Foundries Cast Armour Plant, East Chicago, Ind.; Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich.; and General Motors, Fisher Body Division, Flint, Mich."

The law is similar to those vetoed by former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner in 1941 and defeated in the senate in 1943. Rumors of bribery in connection with the legislative battle over both bills led to the calling of the Carr grand jury investigation of the legislature, although that probe has not resulted in any indictments growing out of the bank bill.

The law limits branch banks to the same county as the parent bank, to a radius of 25 miles of the parent bank or to a contiguous county in which there is no bank. Kelly also signed into law a bill to reimburse local units of government for the state general fund for tax exemptions granted on the homes of servicemen. It also increases from $5,000 to $7,500 the maximum amount of taxable property owned by the person claiming an exemption.

Two other bills signed by the government make it a duty of the state public service commission to enforce an old law fixing qualifications of railroad conductors, engineers, flagmen and telegraph operators, and to give the commission authority to operate light engines outside of yard limits without qualified flagmen under certain conditions.

The bill, already passed by the house, now goes to President Roosevelt.

Administration officials have said there are no plans to use lend-lease for postwar relief and rehabilitation of foreign countries. Senators opposing the amendment offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the senate today it was superfluous and would hamstring orderly liquidation of the vast program.

When the roll was called on the Taft amendment, the vote was 39 to 39. Under senate rules this defeated the amendment but Taft, exercising for the first time his privilege of voting when there

NAZIS HURLED
FROM VIENNA
BY RUSSIANSCAPTURE OF 92,000
IS REPORTED IN
KOENIGSBERG

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

London, Wednesday, April 11 (P)—The Russians hurled the Germans from all of Vienna west of the Danube canal yesterday and thrust within three and a half miles of cutting the rail escape route from the narrow port district and eastern suburbs still held by the enemy.

Heavy fighting raged in the strip between the canal and the Danube River, a space three miles long and less than a half-mile wide. Soviet artillery from three sides raked the district, which includes Prater and the commercial areas of Leopoldstadt and Brigittenau.

All the main portions of Vienna, including the old city bounded by the Ringstrasse, were in the hands of Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army, while Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian forces drove west along the Danube's north banks to the city limits of Vienna.

Escape Gap Narrowed
Malinovsky's men seized a dozen suburbs including Deutsch Wagram, in the middle of the Marchfeld plain and less than three and a half miles from the Nazi escape railroad that leads northward from Vienna to Brno (Brunn) in Czechoslovakia.

The entire gap remaining to the Germans from the Danube north of Vienna eastward to Deutsch Wagram was but 10 miles wide. The Germans were struggling desperately to hold their escape bridges across the Danube and the railway line leading to Brno.

Simultaneously other units of Malinovsky's army slashed ahead on a broad front in Slovakia northeast and north of Bratislava, taking the city of Trencin on the east bank of the Vah River and Barel 80 miles from Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainians driving down from the north.

The Moscow communiqué which announced this series of successes also listed a staggeringly large bag of German troops taken in the East Prussian capital of Königsberg, which fell Monday.

Cleanup In Prussia
A total of 92,000 Germans were captured in the five-day final assault, Moscow said, while another 42,000 were killed. Fifty thousand of those captured were taken after the city's formal fall at 9:30 p. m. Monday night. Among the prisoners were 1,819 officers and four generals, including the commandant, a General Lasch.

Hastening the final cleanup of all East Prussia, the Third White Russian Army thrust westward from Königsberg and took four towns on the Samland Peninsula, Moscow announced.

The Russians were officially silent concerning operations on any other fronts, but German reports said the Red armies also had opened a final assault to reduce the holdout citadel of Breslau, capital of lower Silesia, and thereby free additional forces for a concerted drive westward towards the rushing American armies.

SPAIN ON GUARD
Madrid, Apr. 10 (P)—Neutral Spain is inspecting the arrivals of all foreigners from Germany to prevent persons classified by the Allies as war criminals from settling in Spanish territory, it was learned today.

Dead Baby Boy Found In Mail
Palo Alto, Calif., April 10 (P)—A dead baby boy sent through the mails to Palo Alto from Dallas, Tex., started police and postal inspectors on a search today for both the sender and the woman to whom the parcel was addressed.

Dr. Bert Davis reported after an autopsy that the boy was born alive and died of suffocation, possibly after being placed in the small box in which he was mailed.

SENATE VOTES ONE-YEAR LEND-LEASE EXTENSION

Washington, April 10 (P)—The senate passed a one-year extension of lend-lease today after Vice President Truman joined in defeating, 40 to 39, a Republican amendment designed to make doubly sure that lend-lease ends when the shooting stops.

The bill, already passed by the house, now goes to President Roosevelt.

Administration officials have said there are no plans to use lend-lease for postwar relief and rehabilitation of foreign countries. Senators opposing the amendment offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the senate today it was superfluous and would hamstring orderly liquidation of the vast program.

When the roll was called on the Taft amendment, the vote was 39 to 39. Under senate rules this defeated the amendment but Taft, exercising for the first time his privilege of voting when there is a tie, gave it the final knock on the head by voting "no" in an emphatic voice.

The extension measure then passed without a record vote.

It prolongs the life of the lend-lease law until June 30, 1946, but provides that nothing in the act shall be construed as authorizing the president to enter into an agreement with any foreign government for postwar relief, rehabilitation or reconstruction.

Taft argued that a recent lend-lease contract with France obviously had been made for post-war purposes. He said he was not so much concerned with that particular instance as with the precedent it would establish.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who supported Taft, said the language sought to be eliminated would permit a lend-lease agreement to be made 24 hours before the end of hostilities and continue for three years thereafter.

Luftwaffe Suffers
War's Worst Blow
397 Planes Wrecked

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

London, April 10 (P)—American fighter pilots and bomber gunners destroyed 397 German aircraft today and shattered eight aerial warfare records in the most devastating blow ever delivered against the once-feared Nazi Luftwaffe.

Countless other German craft were damaged as both American and British planes again assaulted the German Reich.

Losses to the U. S. Eighth air force were announced as 25 heavy bombers and 15 fighters.

Today's crippling air blow on the Luftwaffe's striking force, most of which was grounded for lack of fuel, shattered the previous overall fighter and bomber score of enemy planes knocked out in a single day: 352 planes destroyed July 17, 1943 in the Schweinfurt and Regensburg areas.

It also beat the old record of 177 enemy planes destroyed in a single day by fighter pilots, set last Sept. 5, and upset the mark of 70 enemy planes destroyed on the ground, also set last Sept. 5.

More than 3,150 American planes took part in today's record-making smashes, attacking at least a dozen German airfields, including bases for the dangerous jet-propelled planes, and hitting at enemy supplies and rail equipment.

An Eighth air force staff officer said that at least 100 more Nazi planes were probably splintered and an untold number were damaged by the 3,600 tons of fragmentation bombs and high explosives dropped by the Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

One formation of Fortresses and its fighter escort repulsed the heaviest concentration of jet planes so far encountered over Germany when the bombers went in and blasted an ordnance depot and fighter base at Oranienburg, 15 miles north of Berlin.

Flying sometimes in waves of more than four abreast, Flying Forts pounded German air fields in the Brandenburg and Madgeburg areas, while Mustangs ripped into more than 100 parked enemy craft on two fields northwest of Berlin.

Two separate forces of heavy RAF planes, meanwhile, pounded two freight yards in Leipzig and the German radio reported more formations of British bombers were over the Reich tonight.

MINERS ACCEPT NEW CONTRACT

Agreement Reached As Government Goes In Coal Business

BY HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, April 10 (P)—A new contract for soft coal miners was agreed on tonight a few hours after the government took control of 235 mines.

The agreement, reached by operators and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, will go before a full negotiating committee for ratification tomorrow.

Nearly six weeks of negotiations were ended by announcement of Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the bituminous wage conference, that the two sides had gotten together on a contract to supplant the one which expired March 31. And that its form will be perfected by a subcommittee meeting at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The full committee will meet then at 3:30 for final approval.

The government stepped in to operate those mines affected by a wave of wildcat work interruptions which had partially closed plants turning out war-vital steel. It acted while the negotiators plied doggedly ahead in their deliberations. Van Horn's announcement came less than three hours after the federal action.

U. S. 9TH ARMY
TOPPLES CITY OF HANNOVERRACE FOR GERMAN
CAPITAL IS NOW
NECK AND NECK

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, Wednesday, April 11 (P)—The U. S. Ninth army, in a neck and neck race with the American First army toward Berlin, quickly toppled Germany's 12th city of Hannover yesterday and swept on 23 miles into Brunswick's outskirts at a point only 110 miles from the Reich capital.

While tank units of the Ninth also overran Salzgitter, site of the Goering Steel Works 10 miles southwest of imperiled Brunswick, U. S. First army troops in a 40-mile advance on the south smashed into Nordhausen and likewise struck within 110 miles of Berlin with the seizure of localities near Aulhausen, 45 miles west of Halle and 57 miles from Leipzig.

British Near Hamburg
Further south the U. S. Third army, capturing 285 members of the German foreign ministry at Muehlhausen, rolled on and reached the outskirts of Erfurt and Coburg, 50 miles from the Czechoslovakian frontier in the swelling drive to split Germany.

Thousands of Allied warplanes were aiding the explosive advances into the heart of Germany and destroyed 397 German planes during the day.

In the north the British Second army sent tank columns across the shattered Weser river line north of fallen Hannover, a city of nearly a half-million population, and reached the Aller river at a point within 60 miles of Hamburg, great German port. Berlin said units of this army already had crossed the lower Aller and were only 30 miles from Hamburg.

To the west the Canadians plunged within 25 miles of the seaport of Emden in their race to close the last corridor leading into Holland where between 100,000 and 200,000 Germans are pocketed. Other units fought deeper into Holland itself.

Ruhr Pocket Pinched
At the southern end of the 400-mile front curving deep into Germany the U. S. Seventh army struck within 45 miles of the Danube headwaters and the French first army captured Pforzheim, 15 miles southeast of Karlsruhe and 22 miles from the big communications center of Stuttgart.

Elements of the First and Ninth armies fought savage rear actions as they compressed the shrinking Ruhr pocket where 100,000 Germans were trapped. Field dispatches said the Germans were lying in old planes by night and trying to rescue key officers and personnel.

Fifth Wheel Sets Meeting Mileage For Supervisors

Faced with the problem of correcting mileage distances charged Delta county by members of the county board of supervisors for trips to and from meetings, the board's mileage and per diem committee settled the problem with the aid of the county road commission and a fifth wheel which accurately measures distances.

This fifth wheel, incidentally, is attached to an automobile and the distances which it chalks up becomes the official mileage on county roads.

Walter Mantie, chairman of the mileage and per diem committee, explained to the supervisors that the mileage schedule on which they would be reimbursed at the rate of 5 cents per mile had been adjusted to conform to the official road commission figures. He also announced that, for the first time, the Escanaba city supervisors also were to board meetings at the county house. The members receive $4 per day while in session.

Total mileage and per diem cost of yesterday's board meeting was $144.15, compared with $140.80 for the January meeting of the board.

The fifth wheel mileage chart made the following major changes in the mileage schedule for the supervisors: From 120 to 104 miles for Supervisor Harry Greene of Garden; 130 to 110 miles for Leo Merrier of Fairbanks township; 80 to 66 miles for Wesley Anderson of Bay de Noc township.

The "official" distances adopted by the committee are from the home of the supervisor to the court house.

Police To Assist Drive Against Defective Brakes

"You're only a foot from trouble. Check your brakes."

Using that slogan, Escanaba police have joined in a nation-wide six weeks campaign to curb accidents caused by defective brakes.

The brake campaign is designed to call attention to the need for having all defective auto equipment repaired at once, Police Chief Michael Ettenhofer said.

During the six week period from April 15 to June 1 the police will check the brakes of all cars involved in moving traffic violations on county roads.

Walter Mantie, chairman of the mileage and per diem committee, explained to the supervisors that the mileage schedule on which they would be reimbursed at the rate of 5 cents per mile had been adjusted to conform to the official road commission figures. He also announced that, for the first time, the Escanaba city supervisors also were to board meetings at the county house. The members receive $4 per day while in session.

Melvin Magnuson Seeing Plenty Of Warfront Action

Pfc. Melvin C. Magnuson, 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Magnuson, 214 Stephenson avenue, is seeing plenty of action with General Patton's army in Germany. Pfc. Magnuson also resided in Green Bay and Detroit before going into the army, and saw service first in Africa.

Magnuson

Magnuson was instrumental in capturing a number of prisoners near the Saar river, in Germany recently. Looking for the best possible position to establish a road block, Magnuson found a well camouflaged enemy pill box, with two sentries guarding the entrance.

The Escanaba soldier opened fire and wounded one of the sentries. Then pillboxes on the left and right opened fire on Magnuson's position. Magnuson called on members of his platoon to toss hand grenades into the enemy positions and then called upon the Germans to surrender. They put out a white flag, after which Magnuson went with one of the Germans to six other pillboxes and they in turn surrendered. All of the enemy equipment was captured, but was destroyed by Magnuson's platoon for fear of a German counterattack in that area.

Three weeks previous Magnuson had a hair raising experience in the battle of the Banholts Woods when he was left behind after his company had been forced to withdraw. Following the withdrawal, heavy American artillery pounded the area for eight hours. Pfc. Magnuson laid in the mud and water during this time watching the enemy tanks maneuver to escape the barrage. At night Magnuson crawled toward the edge of the woods when a wounded comrade called to him for help.

The Germans opened fire on their position but Magnuson aided his comrade, wounded in the leg, to return to the American lines. Information gained by Pfc. Magnuson was largely instrumental in recapturing the area shortly after.

Lt. L. J. Carsten Heads Prisoner Of War Camp At Raco

Milwaukee, Wis. — First Lieutenant Lennart J. Carsten, 28, of 2823 Forty-fourth Avenue, South, Minneapolis, Minnesota, is the commanding officer at Camp Raco, a branch German prisoner of war camp in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. It is announced by Colonel George H. Cushman, Fort Sheridan post commander.

Camp Raco is under the supervision of the base prisoner of war camp at Fort Sheridan with Lieutenant Colonel E. R. Schuelke as the commander of the base camp. First Lieutenant Carsten, who was adjutant at Camp Raco, replaces First Lieutenant James R. Verkes who has been transferred to Fort Custer, Michigan.

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, it is obligatory to preserve the rapidly dwindling supply of passenger automobiles for vital war transportation; and WHEREAS, it is necessary as a patriotic and humanitarian duty, to reduce the frightful toll of automobile accidents to an absolute minimum; and

WHEREAS, it has been determined by authoritative investigators that faulty brakes are a contributing factor in most automobile traffic accidents; and

WHEREAS, the Police officers of the nation, under the aegis of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, have instituted a Nation-wide Brake Emphasis Program; and

WHEREAS, the Nation-wide Brake Emphasis Program, to have its fullest measure of success in saving lives, reducing injuries, and extending the usefulness of irreplaceable automobiles, must have the complete support of all the public;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Sam R. Wickman, Mayor of the City of Escanaba, Michigan, do hereby proclaim the period from April 15 to June 1, 1945, as a period for the correction of faulty automobile brakes; and I do adjure the citizens of this community, both individually and through their organized groups, to cooperate with our Police officers by having the brakes of their cars checked, and put in proper working condition, during this significant period.

Munising News

James Knox Heads Alger County Board

James Knox, of Munising township, was elected chairman of the Alger county board of supervisors at the organization meeting of the board yesterday at the courthouse. The election was unanimous.

The supervisors also voted to appoint a committee to study the weight and gas tax problem, with a view of increasing the county's percentages of the funds now received from the state.

The Alger board met Tuesday morning at the county courthouse, the first meeting of the board since Spring election as of April 2 and seven new members were added to the roll call, as a result of the election.

From the city proper, Arthur McAllister became a member after having previously served, Gunnard Bjork, elected for the first term, William Duffett re-elected and the new Mayor Lowell M. Gibson automatically becomes a member of the board.

From the different townships the remaining four to be elected to serve on the board were: James Knox from Munising Township who replaces Rupert Nelson who was a member of the board for many years, James Thompson succeeds Sayre Ostrander Jr. from Burt Township who was appointed to serve out the term of his father who passed away, Fred Lake replaces Edwin Peura from Onota Township and Nilo Ylitalo succeeds Joseph Hill in Rock Township.

Other members are Russell Boogren, Au Train Township, John Lezotte, Grand Island Township, Josephine Ooster, Limestone, and Edmond Oulette Mathias.

Medical Help Big Social Aid Item In Alger County

While the general public is aware that there exists such aid programs as aid to dependent children, old age assistance, and aid to the blind, many do not know that, besides the regular needs such as food, clothing, household necessities, lights, shelter and fuel one of the additional items which may be included is an allowance for medical needs, it was explained today by Miss Margaret Lipsett, Alger county supervisor of the Bureau of Social Aid.

In the Alger county individuals are receiving medical allowances from $1 to $25 a month as recommended by their physicians. About 10 percent of all persons receiving public assistance in Alger county have a medical allowance included in their grant.

Physicians become familiar with this medical program when they receive requests from the bureau for a report on the physical condition of a client and for estimates of medical requirements. Usually the recipient informs the bureau of his need for medical care. A statement is then sent to the physician asking the nature of the illness, the probable duration and requesting an estimate of the cost of medication and services. The entire monthly cost of home and office attendance and treatment including medication may be included in the assistance budget, providing the total budget does not exceed the maximum. At present this is $40 a month for old age assistance, and aid to the blind and for aid to dependent children; $50 for a family with one child, and $8 for each additional child in the eligible group.

An allowance to cover the cost

We Must Try

WITH the first rumbles of dissension between the United Nations, many Americans throw up their hands with disgust and decide there is no practical way in which peoples of various countries can get together to maintain lasting world peace.

Even before the conference at San Francisco is held, there are some who would counsel not holding it at all. Already, they are for America drawing back into her shell and becoming isolationist again.

At the end of the last war we made the mistake of believing that peace would take care of itself. When the guns were silenced we went back to minding our own business, neither noticing nor caring what went on in other lands. Ethiopia, we thought, was far away. Fascism was discounted as a way of life peculiar to Italy, and we dismissed Hitler as a crackpot.

Then, we saw Fascism and Nazism go on the march. The small flame that consumed at first the rights and freedoms of a very few, soon spread until it threatened to devour all. The protection of individual rights, wherever they may be threatened, is no longer a question of altruism. Most of us have stopped feeling like Santa Claus because we are doing our share to bring peace to the world. For now we know that the only hope for our own security lies in a peace that protects the rights of all peoples, wherever they may live.

Human blundering kept us from making the first World War the last, and human shortsightedness brought us almost to disaster before the tide turned in our favor this time. We must try at San Francisco and many other conferences in the future to establish and sustain a program that will insure peace far beyond our time.

Harvey — The Builder

STEWART W. HOLBROOK, author of Holy Old Mackinac, Iron Brew and other historical works, gives long deserved recognition in an article in the current issue of The American Mercury to Charles T. Harvey, who dug the Soo canal in the early fifties.

Although not an engineer by profession, Harvey directed the huge construction job under adverse circumstances in this backwoods region, and later was identified with several large building projects, including the New York elevated street railway, a railroad in Canada and the early military road between Marquette and Green Bay, Wis.

Harvey came to the Upper Peninsula as a salesman for the Fairbanks Scale company of St. Johnsbury, Vt. While at the Sault, he was stricken with typhoid, and while recovering from the attack roamed through the iron and copper districts. He saw the great opportunities in mining in the Upper Peninsula, if only the ores could be transported down the lakes. Returning to Vermont, he induced the Fairbanks interests to organize a company to build the canal. To aid in the construction, Congress voted a land grant which, incidentally, included some of the rich iron and copper deposits of the Upper Peninsula.

It took almost two years for Harvey to build the mile-long canal at the Sault. He was plagued by all sorts of obstacles, such as labor troubles, epidemics of disease among the workmen, and remoteness from supplies, but his indomitable will broke all barriers.

The Soo canal is often referred to as both the bottleneck and the jugular vein of Great Lakes transportation. Before the war, it carried more commerce than the Panama, Suez and Kiel canals combined, and during this global conflict it is the world's most important waterway. Eighty-five per cent of the iron ore used to produce guns, tanks, planes and other weapons of war pass through its locks, in addition to grain, coal and other much-needed commodities.

The Soo Canal, one of the leading factors in the industrial development of the Great Lakes region, is a monument to the vision and dogged will of Charles T. Harvey, the drummer from Vermont.

Return of the Smelt

NIGHTLY harvests of about a ton of smelt give assurance that the silvery smelt, which disappeared under mysterious circumstances in the spring of 1943, is making a comeback in Great Lakes waters.

Scientists are still at a loss to explain the reason for the mass deaths of the silvery fish, except that they were attacked by some strange disease. There was evidence at the time, however, that a few had survived the plague, and within two years they have shown their remarkable reproductive powers.

Although the catches are nothing compared to those made a few years ago, some of the enterprising dippers report making from $25 to $35 for an evening's work. The fancy profits were due primarily to the fact that the dippers at first were receiving the unheard price of 20 cents a pound for smelt, as compared to one, two and three cents in the prewar spawning run seasons.

Smelt are not plentiful yet, all of which raises the question in many people's minds as to whether dipping of the fish during the spawning season should be permitted from the standpoint of good conservation. The smelt has proven to be of considerable economic value to the commercial fishing industry and the communities in this region, and it would be seem that it would be the better part of wisdom to give them a chance to propagate in greater numbers. Since the state conservation departments have not taken any steps to close the streams to dipnet fishing, we assume that their experts are not worried about the matter.

Nazi Rats on Run

WHEN Allied armies reach Berlin they will find a city virtually deserted. High Nazi officials were in general flight toward the Bavarian Alps days ago. The last government official essential to continuation of the war is gone. The German foreign office has been moved and Gestapo headquarters are reported to have been established on the Swiss border. All radio transmitters have been set up in southern Germany.

A few newspapers remain and continue to put out limited editions. Headlines urge the population to remain steadfast, to fight with renewed zeal. All of his must fall on the deaf ears of a people deserted by their leaders.

What is true of Berlin is largely true throughout the nation. In territory taken over by the Allies the situation of the German people is much better. They are being fed and are secure from the further ravages of war. In sections not yet invaded, the people are fleeing. Two million are expected to move into Denmark, where conditions already are overcrowded and there is a shortage of food. Only distress and confusion remain as monuments to German militarism.

RATCATCHER TOWN (Grand Rapids Press)

American and British troops have crossed the Weser river at the picturesque town of Hamelin, scene of the celebrated Pied Piper legend and a good job of tourist promotion.

Capitalizing on the famous incident in its history, the Hamelin city fathers have preserved its medieval setting and the narrow, crooked streets. The towered city gate is known as the Ratcatcher's Gate and the leading hostelry is the Ratcatcher Inn. The old Renaissance style home of the burghmaster, who refused the Pied Piper his thousand guilders for ridding the city of rats, is known as the Ratcatcher house.

The enterprising chamber of commerce, or its German equivalent, has marked the place on the bank of the Weser river whither the Pied Piper led the deluded rats to their drowning, and also the spot on the hillside which opened to admit the children's pilgrimage. "Verboten" by order of the burghers is the playing of pipes on the winding street along which the Piper led the entranced children away from their homes forever.

That calamity has been commemorated annually on June 26, the anniversary of the date on which it supposedly occurred in 1284. On the day of the celebration papier mache rats decorated the building fronts and chocolate rats were as popular as Easter bunnies or Santa Claus on more conventional holidays.

Allied soldiers visited the city under unhappy circumstances in the first World War, for many of them were imprisoned there. This time they go to Hamelin town as conquerors.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

The word gymnasium has a literal meaning you'd never imagine unless you know Greek. It designates a place where men exercise naked. The word stems in gymnos "naked."

The original Greek gymnasium was the school where athletes received training for competition in the public games, especially wrestling and boxing. The gymnasiums gradually evolved into great institutions of learning, with emphasis on the study of medicine.

In modern continental Europe, the term gymnasium is given to a kind of secondary school to prepare students for the university corresponding roughly to the American "prep" school.

Q. Is the musical instrument, the ocarina, so called because it has eight (octo) finger holes?

Answer: Sorry, no. Ocarina is an Italian word meaning "little goose," from the instrument's fancied resemblance to the body of a goose.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — The political pattern of America is changing. It is a change which began long ago with the industrial revolution. But it took recent events to make it unmistakably clear.

Once, the citadel of political radicalism and economic liberalism was in the rural areas. Farm representatives put forth the most extreme doctrines. From the agricultural hinterlands came such innovations as the initiative, referendum and recall.

The predominant voices for liberalism and progressive change came from the farm belt, and particularly from the Middle West. For a generation in American public life, the principal advocates of reform were Norris of Nebraska, Robert M. La Follette Sr. of Wisconsin and William Jennings Bryan, who also came out of Nebraska. Other liberals—Walsh of Montana, Kenyon of Iowa, Howell of Nebraska, Olson of Minnesota—all were from the rural west.

Even the South contributed to the ferment. We forget today that southerners such as Jack Garner of Texas and "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina often rode herd on Herbert Hoover and Wall Street in the late 'twenties and early thirties.

—REGIMENTATION OPPOSED—

But the wheel has come full turn. Senators and representatives from the South and Middle West are pillars of conservatism. They are the most outspoken foes of the New Deal. It is from the industrial cities of the North that the new advocates of reforms are coming.

Under the influence of organized labor, they are turning against anything that resembles "regimentation," even in wartime. That was undoubtedly one of the chief reasons for the defeat last week of the administration's manpower bill.

The Republican party was split down the center two decades ago. Norris of Nebraska, the elder La Follette and McNary of Oregon were backing public ownership of Muscle Shoals. They opposed selling the great dam to Henry Ford. Senator George Moses of New Hampshire called these Republican Senators "Sons of the Wild Jackass," and the name stuck.

The Senate vote on the appointment of Henry Wallace to be secretary of commerce showed how fully the political wheel has come round. Republicans from the Middle West voted overwhelmingly against Wallace. They professed to be afraid of his "visionary" ideas. At the same time, a large majority of New England Republicans voted to give Wallace a chance to test his vision in action.

—NEW ENGLAND CHANGED—

New England was once the center of political conservatism. Yet of the seven Republicans from that region in the Senate, five voted for Wallace. These included Aiken of Vermont, Brewster of Maine, Hart of Connecticut, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Tobey of New Hampshire.

It is Senator Aiken from Vermont, one of the two states which went Republican in 1936, who appears the most likely successor to the late George Norris as the leader of progressivism in the Senate.

Aiken is 52 years old, a farmer and an orchardist. He is quiet-spoken and gentle of manner, as was Norris. But before you talk to him very long, you are aware of his deep convictions. In his native state he has taken an active part in various farm movements, with the result that the Vermont Farm Bureau Federation is one of the most progressive in the country.

While he has always voted the Republican ticket, Aiken was a leader in the fight not only for confirmation of Wallace, but also for approval of Aubrey Williams to be head of the rural electrification administration. Keenly aware of many New Deal blunders, he is nevertheless in sympathy with the objective of most of the reform measures identified with the Roosevelt administration before the war.

One of the curious anomalies of the current political scene is that Senator James Mead, who will probably be the New Deal candidate for governor of New York next year, voted against the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project last December, while the principal speech in behalf of the river development came from Aiken, of rock-ribbed Republican Vermont.

Once the impetus for reform came from the farm belt. Today it originates in the industrial East.

Grace Allen Says.

Well, that United Nations convention at San Francisco is running into snags even before it gets started. I don't claim to be an expert, but I did cover the two national conventions last year. And if I can help Mr. Stettinius out with advice, he's certainly welcome.

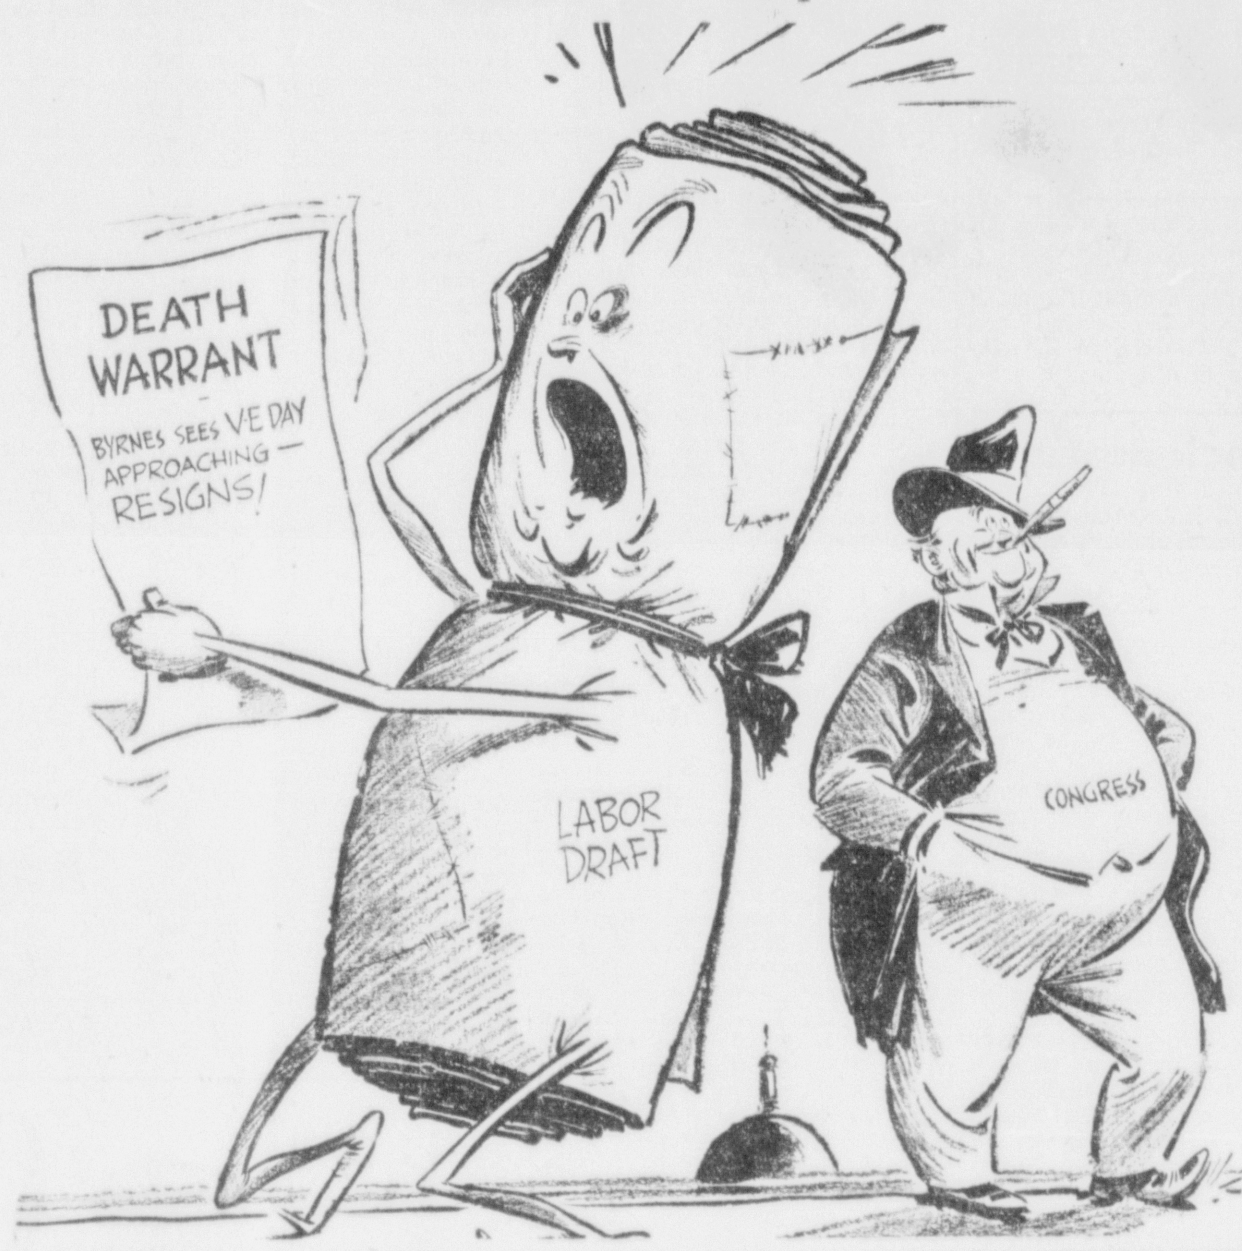

First of all, I didn't think any convention outside Chicago was legal. I know that's the way Chicago feels. But then the "Big Three" have big armies, while Mayor Kelly has only a few thousand policemen. So they may make it stick.

And I'd like to point out that there's going to be trouble if any country asks for too many votes. I know if Russia asks for three and the United States asks for three, Texas is going to insist on the same number.

Oh well, if they can't work out everything at San Francisco they can always go to Chicago.

KIND TO ANIMALS—Be Kind to Animals Week, which will be observed nationally, starts April 15.

From this corner it only seems unfortunate that the week for this observance was not set for Easter time. Because there was more unkindness to animals exhibited at the Easter season than is good for a civilized people to have to contemplate.

Millions of helpless baby chickens, ducks and geese were sold as novelties to thoughtlessly cruel children of thoughtless parents. In cities many of these died within a few hours from being manhandled, while others slowly starved to death—because there is no place to properly feed and care for a baby chick in an apartment dwelling.

There are laws, of course. In Michigan it is against state law to dye or to sell dyed chicks. Yet they were sold and many of them died from the effects of the dye.

Perhaps there is a greater crime involved. It is the unnatural waste of precious food resources in a time of national shortage. A nation that grumbles at wartime rationing should not be guilty of willful destruction of vitally important meat and eggs.

NO IDLENESS — On Saturday this week over 400 Delta county boys and girls, all members of 4-H Clubs, will come to Escanaba for their annual Achievement Day. On that day they will proudly display evidence of the work they have accomplished in the past year.

The girls will exhibit and will in a dress review model clothing they have made. The boys will show samples of their ability in handling tools in handicraft projects.

It has often been said that on the farm the work is never done. This may have changed somewhat since the old days, yet it is true that there is less leisure for the farmer and his family than the city dweller enjoys.

However busy the farm boy and girl may be, there are over 400 of them in Delta county who have time for 4-H Club work. Perhaps they don't think of it as work. It is pasture turned to constructive channels.

Escanaba is not such a large city that youth here could not also become actively interested in the 4-H Club program. Some work was done in that direction last year. It should be continued and strengthened.

THEY WERE SWANS — Many persons who saw the flocks of large white birds with long necks resting on the water south of Ludington Park this past week wondered what they were. Others knew. Among those who recognized the birds as swans were Ed Edick and Louis Kitzinger, who live on Lake Shore Drive.

Both Ed and Louis say the swans appeared about a week ago following the high winds that swept this area. To find shelter from the storm the migrating swans set down on the sheltered waters of the south shore. Within a few days they were gone.

They left here on a long flight northward to the coasts and islands of the Arctic Sea where they build their nests. The eggs are hatched in late June and the baby swans (cygnets) disport themselves in the water and grow strong under the midnight sun. Then follows a period when the parents molt their flight feathers and are unable to fly. It is in this period (says the authoritative encyclopedia) that they are easy prey of the natives, who hunt them for food.

In late September they start south with the ducks and geese.

INTO THE PAST

Washington, D. C.—"WBUAS" means "calling Jack W. Foster, 1011 South Ninth avenue, Escanaba," from now on. Foster, according to announcement by the Federal communications commission, has just been issued a license to operate an amateur radio station at his home.

Little Miss Eileen Viau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Viau, 418 South Nineteenth street, entertained twelve friends in honor of her ninth birthday anniversary Tuesday afternoon. Guests present at the party included: Helen Bennett, Mary Ann McPherson, Mary Jane Starrs, Barbara Norton, Avis Bawden, Shirley Jane and Tresia Ann LaCoss, Shirley Brazeau, Charlotte Olson, Ellen Deiter, and Eileen Ruth Marie and Barbara Ann Viau.

Gladstone—Mildred Boden is the first student to gain the honor of having her name permanently placed on a star as an award in a speed typing contest being held at Gladstone high school.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Klagstad are the parents of a son, born at their home on US-2 on April 8.

20 Years Ago—1925
New York—The "Ovis Poli," Central Asia's bighorn ancestor of the modern sheep, probably would have trembled in his Pamiir Highlands haunts today had he heard and comprehended the talk of his capture as Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and his brother Kermit, put the finishing touches to their packing for the James Simpson Field Museum hunting expedition.

Harland Yelland, who is a student at the University of Michigan arrived last night to spend the Easter vacation at the home of his parents, Judge and Mrs. Judd Yelland.

A marriage license was issued at the court house yesterday to Emil Hagblom of Escanaba and Hilma Engstrand of Ford River.

Manistique—Ed Larson's garage on S. Houghton avenue, was partially destroyed by fire on Friday. The Manistique fire department was called, and found the building in flames. About half of it was saved.

NOTHING NEW — That "One Meat Ball" ditty which has been wearing out the ether waves these last few weeks as a "new" tune is the same music and almost the same words of an old Harvard college boy's song popular more than 100 years ago. Authority for this statement is Prof. Otto S. Zelner of the University of Minnesota faculty, who is a "tune detector" on the side.

The old college ditty is "The Lone Fish Ball" and goes in part like this:

The guest then says, quite ill at ease,
A piece of bread, sir, if you please.
The waiter roars it through the hall,
We don't give bread with one Fish Ball.

The modern version of the One Meat Ball ditty isn't even a very good fake, says Prof. Zelner. It is almost word for word like the One Fish Ball song which he has traced back "almost to revolutionary days."

There is nothing new under the sun in music, he concludes.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—Senator Barkley was at the Hugo Black dinner last week, and spoke of Black's elevation from the U. S. Senate to the U. S. Supreme Court. "I asked the President not to take Hugo away from me. I protested, not because I thought he would make a poor judge but only because he was a tower of strength I needed in the Senate," said Barkley. The Senator from Kentucky then turned to Eleanor Roosevelt and, obviously referring to his split with the President in the pre-election tax-bill veto fight, added: "But as in so many other cases, my advice was disregarded—and results that justified the President's decision."

IN JUSTICE Ferdinand Pecora's courtroom in New York yesterday the five-week trial of B. M. I. vs. ASCAP and five songwriters came to an end. One of the defendants is J. Rosamond Johnson, brother of the late James Weldon Johnson and surviving member of the vaudeville team of Cole & Johnson. He testified that he had written his first song in 1897. "Tell us some of your songs," the lawyer asked him. "Let's start with the best-known one. . . . 'If the purpose of this questioning is to enlighten the court concerning this man's work,' Justice Pecora interrupted, 'then you need not continue. The witness' best known song was "Under the Bamboo Tree," written in 1907. I know, because I sang it when I was end-man in the Elks' Minstrel Show."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Without much publicity the House Food Study Committee headed by statesmanlike Representative Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico has been holding closed door sessions with the men responsible for food production.

Last week the committee quizzed war food chief Marvin Jones, OPA head Chester Bowles, FEA head Leo Crowley, UNRRA Director Herbert Lehman, OWM Administrator Fred Vinson and Representative of the Army and the Navy, this is the first time in months that all these key officials have been together to try to work out a solution to the food problems.

Some time this week two matters discussed backstage are due to be announced. Perhaps the more important is that Chester Bowles will raise the support price for live hogs, now $12.50, to $13.00, with the ceiling remaining at $14.75. Bowles will assure the nation's farmers that this price structure will hold through September of 1946.

Last year the War Food Administration cut the support price for hogs to $12.50 and asked farmers to taper off their record 1943 hog crop of 120 million to about 103 million. This was a serious blunder, and was vigorously opposed by Economic Stabilizer Fred Vinson. Result was that the farmers, afraid they would be left out on a limb at the end of the war with millions of unwanted hogs, cut down their run to only about 87 million. The OPA assurance should mean an increased hog crop this year and next.

In addition, War Food Administration will announce certain relaxations in slaughtering regulations to permit more authority for state inspectors and less for federal inspectors. One quick result of this move should be the channeling of more meat into interstate trade.

—BILBO'S SPY—

Few at the dinner knew it, but Senator Theodore "the so-called man" Bilbo sent a stenographer to the dinner given the other night honoring Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black.

The dinner was a testimonial to Black by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare which accorded the hard-hitting jurist its annual Jefferson award. Speakers included War Mobilizer Fred Vinson, Senator Alben Barkley, Mrs. Roosevelt, and North Carolina University President Frank Graham. Among the guests were a majority of the supreme court and several members of the cabinet.

However, what burned Bilbo up was that several Negroes were present paying tribute to Black. Learning of this, Bilbo ordered a public stenographer to attend and take down the speeches, which the Mississippi Senator could then use for some windbag demagoguery.

But the scared stenographer was caught soon after entering the dining room, admitted he had been hired by "the so-called man," and left after a brief and little-noticed tussle.

—CODDLING NAZI PRISONERS—

Several members of the House Military Affairs Committee are up in arms over what they feel was a whitewash given the army on its treatment of German prisoners at Papago Park Camp, near Phoenix, Arizona.

A report by committee counsel able Ralph Burton was mildly critical of the army's handling of prisoners. But several members refused to sign because they felt it was essentially a "whitewash."

The report was issued without signature, and no member of Congress participated in the investigation. One investigator was sent to Arizona last month, but his report failed to touch upon some of the most serious charges made against the army at the Papago Park Camp.

For some time Florida's Representative Bob Sikes has been planning a special study of German prisoners as a result of another military affairs committee report four months ago which he felt was a whitewash. Last week when the new Papago report came to him, Sikes not only refused to sign, but insisted that the wording be changed to make it plain that committee members had not written the report or investigated the situation. Sikes will now demand a thorough investigation by members of Congress.

The investigator's report published last week did not even comment upon the charges by Representative Harless of Phoenix, Ariz., that the army has made no attempt to separate Nazi and non-Nazi prisoners; that only fanatical Nazis have been given authority among the prisoners; and that the actual leader among them has been Gustav Ender—one of the few old-time Nazis who is a member of the order of the blood. To join the order of the blood one must have participated in the Munich Beer Hall Putsch of 1923.

The report also did not mention the fact that Ender and his henchmen have hanged or executed prisoners for anti-Nazi statements, or for failing to pass on to the Nazis U. S. military information which they might learn working as office clerks.

—WORK OR FIGHT BILL—

Senate rejection of the Work-or-Fight bill has put the army and the navy definitely on the spot. They must now make up their minds whether they need the legislation enough to permit its administration by Paul McNutt's War Manpower Commission.

For it was the rejection of the WMC as administrative body to which the Senate most objected. War and Navy officials do not care for McNutt, and they are not anxious to see manpower controls strengthened while in civilian hands.

The fate of the bill now depends upon whether the military is willing to give up

ELECT THORSEN TO HEAD BOARD

Wells Twp. Supervisor Starts Sixth Year As Chairman

City Supervisors Urge Reappraisal in County

Supervisors from the city of Escanaba yesterday asked supervisors from the rural area of Delta county to consider the possibility of the townships hiring the services of a firm of expert appraisers to conduct a reappraisal of property values in the townships similar to the reappraisal now nearing completion in Escanaba.

Supervisor Harold W. Gasman of Escanaba suggested to the township supervisors that they take up the matter with their township boards, and from them receive an expression toward the proposal.

At the meeting of the county board yesterday the township supervisors in the majority were silent on the suggestion. Two spoke in opposition to such a reappraisal plan, citing the inability of their townships to pay for such a service.

The subject was broached by Supervisor Henry Wylie of Escanaba, who reported on a meeting of the finance committee with T. H. Wilkins, representative of the J. M. Clemishaw company of Cleveland, who is directing the firm's reappraisal work in Escanaba.

Supervisor Wylie said the Clemishaw company would reappraise all real property in the 14 townships in Delta county for $11,400, which could be paid over a two-year period. He directed the county board's attention to the value of the information which the board would have available at property equalization time in June. The information supplied by expert appraisers would assist the supervisors in equalizing taxable valuations between the cities and townships for county tax purposes.

The work of the Clemishaw company in Escanaba was endorsed by Mayor Sam Wickman, Supervisors Peter Logan and Harold Gasman.

In reply to a question from Board Chairman O. J. Thorsen, Prosecutor Torval Strom told the supervisors they have the authority to authorize and pay for reappraisal work in the townships. He pointed out that the work would not be complete, however, unless Gladstone property also was reappraised. He added that the county already has a deficit and "it would be difficult to explain to the people" if funds were authorized for such a project in the townships.

Supervisor Henry Cassidy of Gladstone reported the Gladstone city commission had talked of such a project but has so far taken no action.

Escanaba city supervisors pointed out that the reappraisal in Escanaba is not designed to raise taxes but to arrive at a fair and equitable basis of property values on which taxes are assessed.

Mayor Sam Wickman of Escanaba expressed concern over where the county board would increase its equalized valuation to attain the $22,250,000 aggregate valuation for the county established by the state tax commission.

Last year the equalized valuation established by the board was $17,474,716 for the county.

Last year in June when the equalized valuation was increased by the county board there was complaint from Gladstone and Escanaba supervisors that the townships, because they were said to be under-valued, were bearing less than a fair share of the county tax burden.

New York—Because Chinese are clever at expressing non-chalance and ease and finesse in costume, their influence is felt in such spring fashions as the wrapover dress, the loose, straight jacket, the decorative coat and now the Mei Ling sleeve, named for Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

The "Mei Ling" which flows from a third-dimensional armhole, is significant not because here's a sleeve cut in a new way, but it helps to clinch the dolmanized silhouette—free and easy fullness released above a hitched-up belt and a slim skirt—which is fast catching on.

Interpreted in a group of afternoon dresses and jacketed costumes designed by Maurice Rentner—two of which are shown—the blousy sleeve and the bare neckline, also borrow from the Chinese, typify a new kind of high-styled simplicity.

In the black crepe afternoon dress, right, you see a subtle style made dramatic by means of line and detail limited to white accents of buttons, belt and saddle stitching which outlines third-dimensional armholes.

The beige basket weave wool, left, owes its distinction to the same easy silhouette. Here the Mei Ling sleeve is etched lightly with a welt seam, and dramatically accented with checked Guatemalan cotton turn-back cuffs.

The female breast is chiefly fatty tissue with a little gland tissue buried therein.

It is not muscle tissue, so it cannot be enlarged by exercise and massage. In fact, the latter tend to break down the breast and make it flabby.

HERE'S THE TELEPHONE

YOU CAN'T GET

CHANCES ARE, this fighter's telephone was made in the very same plant, by the very same hands, and with the very same materials that would have made the telephone you can't get.

That's the reason 100,000 Michigan families are waiting for telephones today. Practically all the telephone manufacturing facilities in the nation are working full time to supply our fighting forces.

We are installing some telephones every day, as present users give up service. But we can get very few new instruments and we cannot get the necessary central office equipment and cables.

After the war, Michigan Bell plans a program of expansion and improvement costing $120,000,000 in five years. But even waiting at that rapid rate, it will take at least two years before telephones generally can be installed without delay.

We appreciate the patience and understanding you have shown. We promise we'll provide you with a telephone just as soon as possible.

COURT SESSION
TO BE BRIEF

Only A Few Tax Cases
Remain On Docket

It took but a few hours of Monday afternoon to dispose of all but the case on the court calendar of the April term of circuit court. The one remaining item on the calendar is a case in chancery pertaining to the sale of tax delinquent land. With the continuance of the only jury case on the calendar — Trustees of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway Co., vs. Floyd Webb — Judge Herbert W. Rannels dismissed the jury for the term.

A number of cases, listed variously as desertion, non-support and statutory offenses were continued. In these cases the defendants had pleaded guilty and, on assurance by their attorneys that they were supporting and leading reasonably temperate lives, the court chose to defer sentence. This action was taken on motion of Prosecuting Attorney William J. Sheahan.

In the case of the People vs. Don C. Johnson, the defendant pleaded guilty to a charge of selling beer at his filling station and lunch room near Thompson. Judge Rannels deferred sentence until the next term of circuit court, which is, in effect, probation.

The hearing of Paul Kiefer, charged with gross indecency, was held in the judge's chambers and Judge Rannels signed an order declaring him a "sexual psychopathic person" and that he be committed to the custody of the state hospital commission and remain in their custody and care until such time as he shall be cured.

L. T. BOUMONT

Had Been A Resident Of Area More
Than 60 Years

Lewis T. Boumont, 72, for more than sixty years a resident of these parts, died Monday night following an illness of more than two years. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at St. Magdalene's Catholic church at 9 o'clock with the Rev. Fr. Sterbenz, of Garden, conducting the funeral mass. Burial will be in the Cooks cemetery.

Mr. Boumont was born in Quebec, Canada, on December 5, 1872 and came to this vicinity with his parents when a child. For a number of years he was employed at the sawmill at Masonville, but most of his life he devoted to farming at his present farm home at Cooks.

Surviving him are the widow, Mrs. Nina Boumont; a stepson, Pfc. Phillip Hamilton, now with the armed services in Germany; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Edward Cook, at home, and a granddaughter.

The body is now at the Morton funeral home and will be taken to the residence at Cooks this afternoon.

"I was taken a prisoner of war by the Germans," the young soldier wrote. "I am in good health. Expect to be moved soon to another camp, so don't write until I give you my new address."

To Leave For Induction On Friday, March 27

Charles O. Jenereau and Emory F. Barkovich have been accepted for army duty and on March 27 will leave Manistique for induction into the armed services, the local draft board announced.

Also coupled with this announcement is word that seven young men who recently took their pre-induction physical examination at Marquette, have passed. They are: Wallace Joseph Ward, Horace Francis Fox, Charles Ewart Woodworth, Erling Oscar Anderson, Orvis Oscar Holm, Glen Clayton Losey and Alfred Paul Larson.

Edward Robert Clish and Toivo Art Pippo, who transferred to this board and took their pre-induction physicals at Marquette, were also accepted for the armed service.

FOURTH SON
IN SERVICE

Mrs. Delia Martin Has
Two Boys In Army—
Two In Navy

Mrs. Delia Martin, 131 North Second street, is getting a pin with four stars upon it, to replace the one with three, which she has been wearing. Her boy, Richard, recently enlisted in the navy and late last week received his call and is now at Great Lakes, Ill.

Three other boys had previously entered the service. They are Pfc. Earl, Pfc. Melvin and Seaman I/C Carl.

"Have you any more boys?" asked the Press reporter.

"Oh, yes," she replied. "My boy, Leonard is still at home. He is still a bit too young to enlist, but it won't be long before he will be of age and there will be no keeping him. He's just rarin' to go."

SGT. J. CURLEY
IS MISSING

Parents Receive Word
From War Department
Tuesday

Staff Sgt. John J. Curley, 19, a ball turret gunner on a bomber in the American Army Air force, is missing in action over Germany. A telegram received by the lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Curley, 527 Oak street, yesterday morning, stated that he had been missing since March 23.

John, who was born and raised in Manistique, has been in the service since April, 1943, and went overseas last December. As a boy, he attended local schools and later, St. Norbert's Academy at West Deperre, Wis.

PFC. BEAUDRY IS HURT IN LUZON

Pfc. James Beaudry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delor Beaudry, 127 South Fourth street, has been injured while fighting in Luzon, his parents learned from a telegram received from the war department Tuesday.

The nature of the injuries was not revealed, the telegram stating that he had been "slightly wounded."

Jim has been in the army for about four years, two of which had been spent in New Guinea.

Jack Forvilly Has Received a Bronze
Star, Purple Heart

Jack Forvilly, city, who is now being treated for combat wounds in Fitzsimmons General hospital, Denver, Colo., can sport a large number of decorations when he desires.

Jack has been awarded the bronze star, twice for bravery in France and in Germany, the Purple Heart and cluster, the Presidential Citation and cluster, the Expert Combat Infantryman's badge. He is also eligible to wear the ETO ribbon with three stars and the Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon.

Jack writes:

"Yes—I'm back in the good old USA. Have been in the USA a month, the 28th of March.

"I was through three campaigns—Normandy, Brittany and Belgium and Germany.

"I was wounded twice. First time was in Brest, France, back in the first part of September. Was in the hospital for a month at that time. The second time I was wounded the twelfth day of the counter-attack which was Dec. 28.

"Those were some rough days and it cost the Heinies a lot of men and equipment, and so it will shorten the war for them. Why I say them is the Yanks' morale is sure great, even when it does get W.A.R.M. It's wonderful to see how men take it in hazardous duty. Even then there is a lot of laughs and jokes.

"This time I was wounded by 88 mm. shells in my right arm which shattered the elbow and about a half hour later in my left leg or thigh. * * *

"Three and one half years service or 40 months the 29th of March to be exact. I'm glad I feel so good and hope to be home on a 30-day leave not later than May."

Jack's letter was printed let handedly as he is still unable to use his right arm. He is a son of Mrs. Sophie Merrill, city.

SAFETY DRIVE
OPENS APRIL 15

Good Brakes Emphasized
In New Nation-Wide
Campaign

Last year there was conducted in the state of Michigan a "Brake Emphasis Program." This proved the effectiveness of all traffic agencies within a state working together. It reduced accidents considerably and attracted nationwide attention.

The "Michigan Plan" was then adopted for nation-wide application and all 48 states agreed to participate.

Beginning next Sunday, April 15, a second brake emphasis program is to be conducted and it will have the advantage of the national support of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and some eighty national organizations interested in safety. This backing and additional resources should permit doing even a better job than last year.

The objective of the campaign is to encourage all motorists to maintain brakes in safe condition. It is NOT to make arrests or collect fines.

Through the drive it is hoped to avert a threatened increase in motor vehicle accidents and to conserve the nation's dwindling supply of cars.

It will be conducted in each state and community by chiefs of police and sheriffs beginning April 15 and continuing through June 1, a seasonal period when sharp increases in traffic accidents are usually experienced.

Applications for renewal of licenses by eleven of Gladstone's drink places were received and approved at a regular meeting of the city commission Monday night.

Applications included those of Tony Rose, Maura VanMill, Mary's Cafe, Charles Brotherton Estate, Frank Sirola, Jacob Jacobson, Joseph Raiche, Ethel Reynolds, Fred Kinkella, Joe LaBumbard and August Boden.

Leslie Hermanson, representing Local 126, appeared before the commission to request permission to have a Girl Scout troop which the local sponsors meet in the recreation room in the city hall.

A petition seeking installation of a sewer in the alley between 10th and 11th streets from Fourth avenue north one block south was read and City Manager H. J. Hendrickson authorized to have plans and specifications for the project prepared.

Some delinquent sidewalk assessments were ordered spread on the tax roll against the property involved.

The tentative budget for 1945-46 was placed informally before the commission for discussion. It will be introduced at the next regular meeting of the body.

STEAM SHOWN BY NEWHOUSER

Tigers Win 7-2 Victory
Over White Sox In Exhibition Tilt

Terre Haute, Ind., April 10 (AP)—Hal Newhouse, Detroit Tiger pitcher who won the American League's most valuable player award in 1944 off his 29 victories, proved today that he was ready for another banner year as he pitched the Tigers to a 7 to 2 exhibition victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Newhouse, going nine full innings for the first time this season, gave eight hits, struck out 10 and walked five men. The victory was Detroit's third in five exhibition games with the Sox.

The Tigers piled up a 7-0 lead in the first four innings off a pair of 40-year-old Chicago hurlers, tagging Earl Caldwell for five runs on six hits in the first three frames and adding two more markers off Clay Touchstone in the fourth.

Newhouse had a 7-0 shutout until Mike Tresh singled and Oris Hockett homered to right center in the seventh inning.

Leading Detroit's 11-hit assault were Don Ross, with a double and two singles, and Rudy York, whose two hits included a triple.

The Tigers' first two runs were passed across the plate by Caldwell in the second inning when, with two out and Bob Maier and Ross on base after singles, Newhouse, Jimmy (Skeeter) Webb and Eddie Mayo each walked.

Singles by York and Roger Cramer, Caldwell's error and Ross' double in the third accounted for three more Detroit runs and the last two came in the fourth off Touchstone when John McHale singled, York tripled off the left field wall and scored on Cramer's fly.

Frank Paphish, Chicago left-hander, worked the last two innings without permitting a run but the Tigers had the sacks jammed in the eighth when Ross' long fly ended the inning.

A NEW CLUB IS BORN
I attended a meeting of the Oshkosh sportsmen not long ago. A new, a different sort of a club was born and I wonder if the baby will live. It is a different sort of a sportsmen's organization for many reasons.

I opened my big mouth at the meeting and they stuck me on a committee. It was at the committee meeting that I had my eye opened. One sportsman said, "There were 5,000 licenses bought by Oshkosh hunters and fishermen last year and there are some 35,000 other people living here who are all interested in nature."

Another said, "In this entire community there are not 200 persons who belong to one single outdoor club, but there are hundreds right here in this city who would enjoy getting together and exchanging ideas about the outdoors, if we could all get together."

One sportsman said, "I get tired of going to these rod and gun club meetings and arguing about the laws, the opening and closing of the seasons, and how long a fish should be or how old a deer must be to be legal. Why not give fellows like me a chance to hear what others think about the outdoors in general."

Before I left they had organized into 30 groups, all headed by committees of three men each. This meant that 90 men were on committees which would see that each new member could specialize on his favorite sport or subject in that club.

I hope that baby lives. How nice it will be to listen to the fellows who represent the upland game put on their evening program, tell us what they know about pheasants to grouse and allow every member to get in on the discussions.

I presume the group who delve into the subject of waterfowl will dig up many facts as will the bait fishermen try to show how their tackle beats the plug fishermen. We can sit on the side lines and learn something too, I wish I had the space to tell you about

Boxing Tourney To Be Held Here On Wednesday, April 18

A boxing tournament will be held for boys between the ages of 10 and 18 Wednesday evening, April 18th at the Recreation Center. All boys interested are asked to contact Jerome Dolorio or Art Peterson of the Recreation Dept.

All boys entering this tournament will be matched according to weight, age and ability.

Boxing matches have been conducted for the last two months at the center with approximately 100 boys participating.

All boys who wish to enter this tournament are asked to report for practice every evening, Monday through Friday of next week. Pairings will be made at that time. All boys will be in the Novice Division as all boys are beginners.

Medals will be awarded the winners in each division.

Pitchers Pounded As Red Sox Whip Giants, 14 and 3

New York, Apr. 10 (AP)—Away to a five-run lead in the first inning, the Boston Red Sox pounded three New York Giant pitchers for 19 hits and a 14-3 triumph as some 1,200 fans turned out for the first game of the season at the Polo Grounds today.

The Sox collected 10 of their runs in the first three innings off Ray Harrell, while Joe Bowman checked the Giants until the fourth when Steve Filipowicz connected with a homer. Ernie Lombardi hit another homer for the Giants in the fifth off Otis Clark.

George Metkovich homered for the Sox in the second.

all the committees which make up this new club.

I can imagine the things the nature lovers will throw against the committee on predators such as hawks, owls, crows, fox, coyotes and wolves. When the song bird group, the game food group and the farmer-sportsman gangs get going, we should hear things.

The trappers will tell us much about nature and the Camp Fire Girls-Boy Scouts-Four-H section will make us think of the youngsters. Who knows, with 30 groups nursing that baby along, it may get out of the diaper stage, (with the boys on water helping along a little.) I'll let you know in a year from now.

grade balls of the five leading brands. Ho Hum Dep't. Van Mungo is reported ready for a really big year on the mound for the Giants. It's just a case of hollering "wolf" too often. The big guy has been ready for big years for years and years and years, and nobody will take him seriously now until he has one.

Breaking down Byron Nelson's golf game, which the other players don't seem able to do, shows he averaged a birdie about every third hole in shooting his 263 at Atlanta. We aren't sure about Whit Wyatt, but we think Vince DiMaggio will help the Phillies considerably. He strikes out often with great gusto, but he really hits a long ball and covers plenty of floor space out there in center field. Wyatt has had arm trouble before and come back, so maybe he'll fool the skeptical this year, although it's a lot farther coming back from 37 than it is from 17.

The St. Joseph Trojans football team will play one of its games under lights next fall, meeting Kingsford in a night game at the Kingsford field October 5. The Monominee range, high schools will play a number of night football games during the 1945 season. Iron Mountain has booked two after-dark games and Kingsford has two home games at night. Stambaugh will play all of its home games under the lights—three of them, with two away from home, games scheduled to be played under the Mazdas. Iron River will play all four of its home games at night.

The Major softball league in Menominee will meet this evening to make plans for the coming year, which brings to mind that Paul Vardigan, president of the Escanaba Softball association, reported the other day that hopes

Amputee Veterans Whooop Up Softball

Washington, April 10 (AP)—You can't take the spirit of athletic competition out of America's war veterans. Not even when they have lost arms and legs.

Amputees from the Walter Reed hospital demonstrated this today by playing a four-inning softball game in which the enlisted men, all leg cases, whooped it up in defeating the officers' team, 12 to 6. The game was a feature of the Army's physical conditioning program.

Hit and Miss—There's a lot of talk around town about the expansion in bowling here—and throughout the country—after the war. At least one new bowling establishment on the ground floor is kept in Escanaba. Bowling has likely a firm pace despite the fact that hundreds of bowlers are now serving overseas in the armed forces. Babe Didrikson Zaharias defeated Betty Johnson, 4 up, in the first 36 holes of a special 72-hole match at Los Angeles Sunday. Babe's drives averaged 50 yards more than Betty's tee shots.

have raised regarding the installation of lights for a softball diamond here. As most fans know, the association has the money available to purchase the equipment and needs only the necessary prior approval from where the equipment can be secured. If, as and when the green light is given by the WPB, announcement of a meeting to plan for the season here is expected any day now.

It won't take many days of this kind of weather to bring out the Postoffice softball team, for a few practice sessions before they issue their annual challenge to the Press Inskings. The challenge generally accept the players without benefit of rehearsal. Each year finds a few more creaking bones, but the spirit is willing even if the flesh isn't quite as congenial. Martin Olson, the P. O.'s master mind, who plays any position with equal facility, is reported to be developing a blooping ball to use against the Inskings this season.

Hermansville

Celebrates Birthday

Hermansville, Mich.—Mary Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weaver, was entertained Saturday afternoon, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Furlick, the occasion being her third birthday anniversary.

Games were played after which a delicious lunch was served. A large birthday cake decorated with three roses, in white, pink and green with "Happy Birthday, Mary Ann" in pink centered the table.

Guests at the party were Mrs. Arthur Weaver, Miss Carrie Weaver, Mrs. Clarence Limpert and daughter Glenda Gale, Mrs. John Rodman and son John Jr., Mrs. Eugene Stockero and daughter Dorothy and son Eugene, Barbara Jean and Dorothy Ann Rodman, Linus Menard, John Kobasie Barbara Furlick, Mrs. Nick Furlick, and Mrs. William Rabey.

Mary Ann received many lovely gifts.

LT. T. L. POWERS DIES IN ACTION

Escanaba Fighter Pilot
Killed In Germany
March 11

Lt. Thomas L. Powers, Jr., 21, fighter pilot who had been reported missing in action over Germany March 11, was killed in action on that date, the war department notified his wife, the former Jesslyn Jackson, Lake Shore Road, in a telegram received yesterday morning.

Lt. Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Powers, Sr., 112 First avenue south, was born June 18, 1923, and resided in Escanaba all his life, except for the period in which he attended Michigan State college and two years of military service.

He was graduated from the Escanaba high school in 1941 and was a second year student at Michigan State college when he enlisted in the Army Air Forces in February, 1943.

Lt. Powers was commissioned a second lieutenant at Moultrie, Ga., in May, 1944. After receiving his wings, he was given advanced training at Windsor Locks, Conn., and Norfolk, Va., before going overseas in December, 1944.

He was stationed in England for several weeks before being transferred in January to the Ninth Air Force, based in France. Lt. Powers was a pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter-bomber plane and had completed a number of missions in France and Germany.

Lt. Powers was married to Jesslyn Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson, May 29, 1944 at Escanaba.

He is survived by his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Powers.

Obituary

STEVE STROPICH

Funeral services for Steve Stropich will be held at St. Joseph's church 9 o'clock yesterday morning, with Rev. Fr. Alphonse officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Solos of the mass were sung by Clarence Gleich. At the offertory, Mrs. John Bartel Jr., sang "Domini Jesu Christe" and at the close of the service she sang "O Meritum Passionis." Eighth grade students of St. Joseph's high school attended the services in a body.

Pallbearers were Mike Martinec, Mike Staresina, Michael Powlovich, Frank Maycunich, Frank Krizanach and Edward Cormier. Out-of-town persons in attendance at the funeral were Frances Stropich, Miami Beach, Fla., Ruby and Rose Stropich, Mrs. Joseph Ross and son, Raymond, Chicago, and Bertha Stropich, Detroit.

MISS ESTHER PETERSON

Funeral services for Miss Esther Peterson, who was killed in Detroit in a fall from a taxicab, were held yesterday afternoon at the Anderson funeral home. The funeral was attended by an exceptionally large number of friends. Rev. John Anderson of the Evangelical Covenant church conducted the services, assisted by Rev. Karl J. Hammar of the Central Methodist church.

The text for Rev. Anderson's sermon was from the First Book of Samuel, 20th chapter, third verse: "But truly as the Lord liveth and as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death."

Rev. Hammar, a close friend of Miss Peterson, reviewed the life of Miss Peterson and delivered the eulogy.

Mrs. Al Olson sang two numbers, "God Understands" and "Beyond the Sunset." She was accompanied by Mrs. John Anderson.

Pallbearers were Ed Anderson, Harold Crebo, Arthur Carlson, Victor Anderson, Frank Lindenthal and Carl R. Wickman.

Burial was made in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

FRANK LYSCK

Funeral services for Frank Lysck will be held this morning at nine o'clock at the St. Joseph church, Rev. Fr. Wilberding officiating at the mass. Interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

GUST HUHTA

The body of Gust Huhta will be removed from the Anderson funeral home to the Finnish hall at Rock at one o'clock today and funeral services will be held at two o'clock. Burial will be made in Rock cemetery.

CHARLES LITKA

Funeral services for Charles Litka will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at the Anderson funeral home. Rev. Karl Hammar will officiate and burial will be Lakeview cemetery.

Straw Litter Is Good To Keep Down Weeds

If you have some good clean straw litter, use some of it in your garden this spring. A mulch of clean litter brought close to the stalks of tomatoes, cucumbers, when the plants are a few inches high will keep the fruit from the ground and from starting rotting spots (not the regular tomato rot) but spots caused from contact with the wet ground in a season when much rain falls. Clean litter under your row of spinach plants will greatly reduce the sandy leaves as much of the sand splatters up in hard rains. It tends to hold moisture and keeps down weeds, thus doing away with frequent cultivation in these days of labor shortage.

Okinawa (By Navy Radio)

—Never before had I seen an invasion beach like Okinawa.

There wasn't a dead or wounded man in our sector of it. Medical corpsmen were sitting among their sacks of bandages and plasters, with stretchers, with nothing to do.

There wasn't a single burning vehicle. Nor a single boat lying wrecked on the reef of the shoreline. The carnage that is almost inevitable on an invasion was wonderfully and beautifully not there.

There was hardly anybody at all on the beach when we landed. The few assault waves ahead of us had pushed on inland. And all that vast welter of people and machines that make a beach hum with work were still many waves behind us.

The bulldozers and the jeeps had not yet arrived. There was no activity and hardly any sound. It was almost as though we were the original explorers.

Our little party, which was the regimental staff, moved to the foot of a bluff about 100 yards back of the beach. It was full of caves and our naval gunfire had made a rubble at the foot of the bluff. But several cave mouths still capped open.

We decided to set up there until the colonel could get the picture in his mind, through information brought by runners, of just what was going on.

There were about a hundred men with us in addition to the officers. The men were under First Sgt. Andy Anderson, from Washington State. The first thing Andy had them do was to make sure there were no Japs hiding in the caves to snipe on us, for the first waves had gone through too fast to clean everybody out—if anybody had been there.

So they would sneak up on a hole, with rifles ready. Then Andy would take out a hand grenade and throw it into the hole. But the first one hit the edge of the hole and rolled down outside.

Andy threw himself on the sand and all the rest of us lay flat. The grenade went off with a bang, but nobody got hurt. From then on we kidded Andy about the fine display of Marine marksmanship he had given us.

In addition to being great fighters, I believe the Marines are the friendliest bunch I've ever been with. I've never had any trouble with people being unfriendly, but these Marines seem to have it bred into them to be pleasant and to make you feel at home.

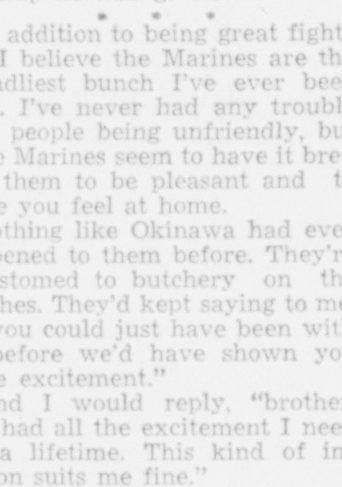

Nothing like Okinawa had ever happened to them before. They're accustomed to butchery on the beaches. They'd kept saying to me, "If you could just have been with us before we'd have shown you some excitement."

And I would reply, "brother, I've had all the excitement I need for a lifetime. This kind of invasion suits me fine."

I started wandering up and down the beach. One boy was carrying a little vase in his hand, saying, "here's the first souvenir"

Two Germfask CO's To Be Given Trial In Federal Court

Two conscientious objectors assigned to the civilian work camp near Germfask, charged with Federal law violation, will be tried by jury during the term of United States district court which opened in Marquette yesterday morning with Judge Fred M. Raymond, of Grand Rapids, on the bench.

One of the defendants is William Barton Fogarty, 19, charged with desertion from the Germfask camp. The other is Ralph Edwin Pulliam, 21, indicted on a charge of refusal to perform work assigned to him at Germfask. It is alleged that Pulliam, claiming his own civilian clothing was not suitable for use as work apparel, refused to accept or wear "GI" clothing because it was issued by the Army.

William Anttila, Hubbard, said to be a Jehovah Witness and classified, therefore, as a conscientious objector, will be tried on a charge of failure to report at a "CO" camp after he had been declared exempt from military service by the Houghton county draft board.

The following persons have been called to serve on the Traverse jury:

Reuben H. Anderson, Iron Mountain; William H. Tonkin, Negaunee; Ed Burling, Crystal Falls; James Jacobson, L'Anse; Swan Peterson, Foster City; Cecil Cottle, Pickford; Amos Dishaw, Sagola; Henry Boyle, Bark River; Robert E. Martin, Baraga; Gustav W. Eckman, Bessemer; Fred Frairbrothers, Munising; Edward Crebo, Iron Mountain.

Walter Miller, Ironwood; Irwin Sutherland, Hermansville; Arthur Ohman, Skanee; Earl Sheveland, Iron Mountain; R. B. Crawford, Stalwart; Harold Labyak, Ontonagon; Ray Lumsden, Mohawk; Verne Skoglund, Sagola; Howard O. Johnson, Newberry; Walter Vandeweghe, Gladstone; Earl J. DeMille, Stephenson; Charles Howard, Manistique.

Leslie W. Richards, Negaunee; Volmer Thomsen, Menominee; Hadar Peterson, Crystal Falls; George Hebbard, Mohawk; Hans Robinson, Ishpeming; George Kitchen, St. Ignace; Edwin P. Johnson, Perkins; Albert Wandelt, Daggett; Henry Westphal, Laurium;

The accident occurred at 5:40 p. m. when the boy on his bicycle rode south into Ludington street at the intersection, and apparently did not see a car approaching from the east driven by J. E. Madison, 9317 Stickney ave, Wauwatosa, Wis. Police said that Madison applied his brakes, which were in good condition, and that the speed of the car was considerably reduced when the car struck the boy and threw him from his bicycle.

Roy DeGrand of 308 South Eighteenth street, a witness to the accident, carried the boy into the car and Madison drove to St. Francis hospital.

The first American ambulance plane was devised during World War I, and was placed in use at Lake Charles, La.

Michigan Means "Big Water," Says Author In Book

Sometime during the middle of the 17th century the French began calling one of the great lakes Michi-guma, says George Stewart in his new book, Names on the Land. The words meant "big water," though there was also a tribe of that name. Later a priest called the lake St. Joseph, and someone else named it Dauphin, according to Stewart, but in the end Michi-guma won out, became Michigan, and survived. Michigan Territory, named from the lake, was formed in 1835.

Stewart also delves into the history of the naming of many places in Michigan, among them Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint, and of many of its natural features, in a chronicle unique in the field of Americana.

The author of Storm, a best-seller and Book-of-the-Month Club selection a few years ago, gives us Names on the Land, a fascinating account of the origins of place names all over the continent, including the name of every state, every city with a population of over 100,000 and scores of thousands of smaller places. The book will be published on April 23 by Random House.
